Regional plans

The Planning, Development and Infrastructure Act 2016 mandates the preparation of regional plans for each planning region within South Australia:

- Greater Adelaide
- Eyre and Western
- Far North
- Kangaroo Island
- Limestone Coast
- Murray Mallee
- Yorke Peninsula and Mid North.

A regional plan is a planning instrument that defines the South Australian Government's long term spatial vision for growth in a region. They focus on the integration of land use, transport and the public realm and application of State Planning Policies (SPPs) to each region.

Regional plans play a significant role in identifying land and long-term infrastructure needs to support sustainable growth in a region.

They spatially identify how growth and change can be accommodated in a region over a 15–30-year period including:

- Where houses and employment land will go
- How housing and population will be serviced
- What infrastructure is needed
- Different growth scenarios (and implications for these scenarios).

Each regional plan will include:

- A long-term vision (over a 15-to-30-year period) for the region, and outcomes, targets and actions for land use, transport infrastructure and the public realm
- Maps and spatial plans that are relevant to the vision and priorities
- Contextual information about the region, including forward projections and statistical data and analysis
- Recommendations about the application of the Planning and Design Code in the region, including future zoning and infrastructure needs, and how land can be developed
- Identification of sufficient land supply to support housing diversity, affordable living and employment growth
- Clear principles for orderly development and the management of growth, including a hierarchy of plans to guide the form and intensity of settlements and the prioritisation of release of urban lands
- A framework for the public realm or infrastructure located within each region
- Performance indicators and targets to measure success in implementing the plan.

The Act requires that community and stakeholder engagement is undertaken to prepare and amend statutory instruments, including regional plans. The engagement must be guided by the state's Community Engagement Charter (the Charter).

The State Planning Commission (the Commission) is an independent body providing advice and leadership on all aspects of planning and development in South Australia. The Commission is responsible for preparing a regional plan for each region of state.

About this engagement plan

This engagement plan outlines the approach for undertaking engagement for the development of the new regional plan for the Kangaroo Island region (Fig.1). It is in three parts:

1. Overarching approach for all regional plans (except for Greater Adelaide which will be prepared separately)
2. Kangaroo Island stakeholders and engagement activities
3. Other background information

1. Overarching engagement approach for all country regional plans

Engagement purpose

The purpose of the engagement is to involve community and stakeholders in shaping visions and priorities for country regional plans. The engagement will:

- Assist in understanding the vision and aspirations of regional communities that will help guide how development is undertaken in the longer-term
- Have authentic conversations with leaders within the community, key stakeholders, state agencies and councils who can work to ensure regional plans are delivered on the ground and have a positive and meaningful impact
- Raise awareness and build capacity within communities about the planning system to enable them to better participate in the planning of their region
- Have broad reach to enable those who are interested to contribute, while also having more targeted conversations creating depth to work through the range of planning issues facing the regions, including social and physical infrastructure
- Build on work that has already been undertaken to make sure the findings from previous engagement activities are not lost
- Close the loop with stakeholders and communities to inform them of the outcomes of the engagement process, and how they can access the final version/s of regional plans.

Scope of influence

Stakeholders and the community can influence the development of regional plans by contributing to the following matters:

- Shaping the vision for their region for the next 30 years
- Identifying and defining regional priorities, as they relate to land use planning and the coordination of infrastructure and the public realm, including
  - Transport networks (road, rail, port, aviation)
  - Electricity
  - Water
  - Community infrastructure
  - Potential areas for land use change
- Providing relevant background or history.

Aspects outside of the scope of influence include:

- The Planning, Development and Infrastructure Act 2016
- The legislative aspects of the Planning and Design Code and related instruments
- State Planning Policies.

Engagement phases

An overarching engagement approach for all regional plans has been prepared. It outlines a four-phase approach to engagement (Fig.2). More details on each phase’s objectives, key messages and lines of enquiry are provided in the following tables.

Approach to workshop delivery

Preparation of all regional plans is happening concurrently. As such there is a need to coordinate workshop delivery to manage consultation fatigue for organisations that have a statewide focus and will want to provide input into all plans. The following approach is proposed. (For more detail, please refer to Section 2)

State-wide workshops	Regional workshops
State Government Agencies	Regional councils, LGAs, RDAs, service providers, stakeholders
Local Government Regional Planning Committee	Local associations, community groups, business groups and industry groups
Peak Planning Bodies, Peak Industry Bodies, Utilities	Traditional Owners

Engagement roles

A shared understanding of roles and responsibilities between the SPC and the key stakeholders within the region, including councils and Regional Development Australia, will continue to evolve throughout the process, with the following identified as a starting point:

State Planning Commission	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Access to data and information, such as population, demographics and development trends.</li> <li>• Skills, knowledge and expertise to analyse data and information, and represent it visually in maps and graphics.</li> <li>• Develop engagement strategies in consultation with the relevant region.</li> <li>• Provide resources to support the rollout of engagement.</li> <li>• Support the engagement and work with the region to prepare the plan and provide a region liaison officer approach for each region.</li> </ul>
Councils and stakeholders	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Provide local knowledge of what is happening / what is important to their region.</li> <li>• Provide any outcomes from recent engagements with stakeholders and the community.</li> <li>• Use connections and networks to help identify key stakeholders.</li> <li>• Council may have the capacity to contribute resources to support engagement activities, e.g. attend events, distribute materials, provide venues, etc.</li> <li>• Provide information that contributes to the preparation of the regional plan.</li> </ul>
Spokespeople	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Official public commentary on the collective development of regional plans is limited to the Minister for Planning and the Chair of the State Planning Commission.</li> <li>• Spokespeople undertaking media activities in regional communities may be identified as part of the ongoing review of the region's engagement plan.</li> <li>• Staff from Planning and Land Use Services will provide support for workshops and engagement activities.</li> </ul>

Community Engagement Charter principles in action for regional plans

The Community Engagement Charter principles will be applied as follows to the preparation of regional plans:

Charter Principle	Principles in Action
Engagement is genuine	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>We will develop long-term relationships that recognise the dynamic and evolving role of regional plans.</li> <li>We will engage early and use different tools and tactics that enable people to participate.</li> <li>We will be open and transparent about the scope of influence.</li> </ul>
Engagement is inclusive and respectful	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>We will engage in depth with those people that can affect change, particularly where they play a role in implementation.</li> <li>We acknowledge that this may be the start of the conversation for some (eg First Nations peoples) and we will need to build a relationship and process for ongoing engagement through this engagement process.</li> </ul>
Engagement is fit for purpose	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>We will use multiple channels to engage but focus on a few things that we can do well within our resourcing constraints.</li> <li>We will ask the right questions, in the right ways, and make sure people understand how regional plans can affect them.</li> </ul>
Engagement is informed and transparent	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>We will work with the regions to know what engagement has been undertaken before and what they have previously been told by stakeholders and the community.</li> <li>We will involve councils in developing the engagement plan for their region and work with them to define their role in the process.</li> </ul>
Engagement processes are reviewed and improved	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>We will reflect on previous engagement processes in the regions to learn from what has worked well and what can be improved.</li> <li>We will reflect on the delivery of the engagement in the regions as it is 'rolled out', share learnings across regions and iteratively improve processes.</li> </ul>

Evaluating the engagement – measures of success

The engagement approach for each regional plan will be assessed to determine how well it has addressed the Community Engagement Charter Principles. At the end of each phase of engagement a survey will be sent to participants and will be completed by the project manager to assess the engagement's success. See tool in Appendix A.

Working with First Nations peoples

Working with First Nations peoples

To ensure that voices of First Nations peoples are heard, a clear set of principles in action – aligned with the Community Engagement Charter – will be embedded into engagement planning for each region. We understand that building relationships with First Nations Groups takes time, and we are committed to building respectful and genuine relationships over the long term.

This will be seen as the start of engagement with First Nations peoples and discussed with their representatives in those terms.

Charter principles	Principles in action
Engagement is genuine	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• We will listen and learn from the many First Nations communities who live across South Australia.</li> <li>• We will understand that Native Title boundaries have ‘buffers’ and more than one Nation may care for any one area.</li> <li>• We will talk with the Nations to find out how they wish to participate.</li> <li>• We will acknowledge the rights and interests of the Nations on whose lands we are working.</li> <li>• We will be flexible as First Nations leaders have many demands on their time.</li> <li>• We will understand and acknowledge that the health and wellbeing of Country and people are all one and that obligations to Country and community are diverse.</li> </ul>
Engagement is inclusive and respectful	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• We will acknowledge that traditional knowledge and the sharing of this knowledge is Aboriginal cultural and intellectual property and we can only incorporate knowledge that is shared with permission and respect.</li> <li>• We will provide resources to remove barriers for others in these communities and create opportunities for many voices to be heard.</li> </ul>
Engagement is fit for purpose	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• We will communicate in plain English (or language if this is possible) and ask how they want information provided so they can take this back to their communities for discussion.</li> <li>• We will allow time to receive, process and discuss information.</li> <li>• We will understand and respect decision-making processes and discuss timeframes in a respectful manner.</li> </ul>

Engagement is informed and transparent	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• We will understand the importance of protocols and accommodate these where possible.</li> <li>• We will acknowledge that trust needs to be earned. We will be clear when communicating intentions and not downplay concerns or fears.</li> </ul>
Engagement processes are reviewed and improved	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• We will reflect on previous engagement processes in the regions to learn from what has worked well and what can be improved.</li> <li>• We will reflect on the delivery of engagement with First Nations in the regions as it is 'rolled out', share learnings across regions and iteratively improve processes.</li> <li>• Measures of success will be identified and evaluated at the conclusion of each engagement, and at each stage of engagement if required.</li> <li>• Any issues raised about the engagement during the process will be considered and action will be taken if considered appropriate.</li> </ul>

Engagement Already Undertaken

- In collaboration with State Government agencies, a comprehensive review of the SPPs has been undertaken, to identify what elements need to be included in regional plans and/or specific policies that identify certain actions to be resolved through the regional planning process.
- Council's CEO and key staff have been briefed on the proposed approach for the development of regional plans and have been actively engaged to provide preliminary information to support the process, including identification of current and proposed strategic investigations and details of local stakeholders. These discussions have also begun to identify the level of involvement that some of the councils seek to have in preparing and engaging on their regional plan.
- A Local Government Strategic Planning Committee has been established to oversee and support two-way communication between regional LGAs, their councils, communities and the state government. The local government representatives on the committee are responsible for ensuring councils in their region remain informed throughout the process. The committee has been briefed on the proposed approach for developing the six country regional plans, with participants' feedback sought on the proposed engagement process.
- Introductory conversations have been held with Regional Development Australia – Adelaide Hills, Flerieu & Kangaroo Island.
- Further conversations have been held with Regional Development Australia – Adelaide Hills, Flerieu & Kangaroo Island; including site visits in October 2022 which RDA co-ordinated, a further site visit in Dec 2022, and ongoing discussions
- Visioning workshops with stakeholders who have a deep understanding of the region have been conducted in Dec 2022 and July 2023 to develop a shared vision for the region and identify implications and enablers in bringing this vision to fruition.
- Aboriginal State Agency and Advisory Panel workshop was held in August 2023 to discuss priorities for all regional planning areas.

Existing Reports, Plans and Strategies

A number of relevant strategies, investigations and projects have been developed by State Government agencies, councils, LGA groups and Regional Development Australia for the region. Regional Development South Australia (RDSA) The Regional Blueprint	Provides an overview of regional SA and a fully scoped investment pipeline from conceptual through to shovel ready projects.	Developed through continuous input by public and private stakeholders.

Current and Proposed Strategic Investigations + Projects

In addition to the projects identified above, there are numerous strategic investigations by a range of State Government agencies and councils that are proposed, or currently underway, and not yet completed.

To avoid duplication and/or leverage existing effort, it is intended that, wherever possible, stakeholder engagement that occurs as part of these activities will be also considered during the preparation of the relevant regional plan/s.

In accordance with the Local Government Act 1999, councils are required to undertake a comprehensive review of their strategic management plans within two years of a local government election. The most recent election took place in November 2022. It is expected that council will commence their review in 2023/4 and it is anticipated that much of the information informing the development of the regional plan will be highly relevant to councils' review process.

Appendix A – Engagement evaluation proformas

Measures of Success Tool

The Charter sets minimum performance indicators (or measures of success) that must be used to evaluate engagement required by the Charter. These measures help to gauge how successful the engagement has been in meeting the Charter's principles for good engagement.

1. The evaluation process

Step 1- Initiation- Prepare Engagement Plan

- An outline of how the success of engagement will be measured against the Charter's principles is required as part of the engagement plan. This engagement plan needs to be agreed to by the Commission at the initiation stage.
- The minimum performance indicators to be used for evaluation are provided in Table 1. Additional performance indicators can be included if desired.
- These measures of success will be used to evaluate whether the principles of the Charter have been met throughout the engagement process.

Step 2- Consultation- Collect Evaluation

- During the engagement the engagement entity (planner/proponent/engagement manager) needs to ensure that the information needed to evaluate the engagement is gathered.
- This can be done by distributing a survey to participants at the end of an engagement activity or at the end of the entire engagement. This survey should ask at least the minimum performance indicator questions for "community" as identified in Table 1. (see example survey)
- The engagement entity can also complete an evaluation exercise at the end of an engagement activity or at the end of the entire engagement. This exercise should at least respond to the minimum performance indicator questions for "project manager or equivalent" in Table 1. (see example template)
- Completing these exercises at the end of engagement activities enables the project team to review the success of the activities - what went well and what didn't - and make improvements for the next engagement stages. Participants may also be more likely to fill out a survey straight after an activity, rather than something sent to them later.
- Quantitative data should also be collected as the engagement rolls out including: number of people reached, number of participants at events, number of submissions received etc.
- Workshop attendance sheets, or online bookings are a great way of gathering numbers of participants whilst also building a contact list to follow up with the outcomes of the engagement or a future activity.

Step 3 - Consider feedback- Evaluation Reporting

- On completion of engagement, the information gathered from the evaluation activities needs to be compiled, analysed and summarised.
- The evaluation needs to be included within the s73 statutory Engagement Report that is provided to the Minister for decision making. This Engagement Report is also published on the SA Planning Portal.
- See guidance on what evaluation information to include in this report.

Example evaluation template to include in report to the Commission

(See template provided in the online guide for the entire report template for the State Planning Commission.)

Engagement reach

For each engagement activity (include promotion too) provide the following information. This could be done in a table. Add any discussion to clarify any of the results.

For example:

Stage of engagement	Engagement or promotion activity	Number reached e.g. sent to, invited, distribution extent, webpage hits.	Number participating e.g. number participants, submissions (breakdown public versus professional organisations), surveys completed.

Consistency with the agreed engagement plan

Explain how the engagement plan approved by the Commission was adhered to or not. A change may occur due to feedback during engagement activities or other unforeseen changes. Outline this here.

The engagement occurred in accordance with the Engagement Plan endorsed by the State Planning Commission on x date (Engagement Plan attached) with exception of the below variances (if relevant).

Engagement evaluation results

The purpose of this Chapter is to enable the State Planning Commission to determine whether the Community Engagement Charter requirements have been met.

Summary of the Evaluation

Include a brief analysis about the success of the engagement, include the causes or 'story behind' the data provided below. This is where you can help the Commission interpret the data (below) by explaining what you believe the data is telling you about the effectiveness of your engagement.

For example: There was significant emotional objection in connection to an issue (outline issue) that was connected to the proposal but not part of this engagement process. The community found it difficult to understand that the issue was not part of this engagement process.

How evaluation was collected

Provide how evaluation data was collected.

For example: Evaluation data for the minimum performance indicators required by the charter were collected. For the 'community' indicators, the data was collected through an evaluation survey provided to participants at each event, emailed to those that lodged a submission, available from council Website/SA Planning Portal.

The engagement entity or 'project manager' indicator evaluation was completed by the ....
