Minister Knoll,

I have recently been in contact with the State Planning Commission regarding an error in the zoning of my property within the new code. This is taking some time. I know others will also need to query their own properties due to errors or inconsistencies or just confirmations. So, due to my own experience I need you to understand the following:

1. Your Government has not provided enough time to clarify the whole of South Australia.
2. There needs another round or two of Community Forums
3. If YOU GET IT WRONG, we're stuffed.
4. If a property owner found an error or inconsistency (et al), AFTER the new Planning and Design Code is implemented, what recourse is there??? Has any contingency been worked into the Code for this eventuality?

Please provide more time and more consultations.

Sincerely
Lee Ryan
