Background information

The future development of the Adelaide Riverbank, in particular the Festival Plaza precinct and its immediate surroundings, is of social and economic significance to the state. The South Australian government's vision is to develop the precinct into a unique, world-class hub for the arts, culture, tourism, entertainment and employment.

The following five 'place principles' were developed by the former Riverbank Authority to ensure the vision for Festival Plaza is reflected in any concept designs or future development of the precinct:

- Principle 1: A compelling destination
- Principle 2: The heart of the Riverbank
- Principle 3: Event-ready space
- Principle 4: Dynamic and evolving place
- Principle 5: Distinctive place.

Amendments to the Planning and Design Code are proposed to review the planning rules, including the mix of land uses, to ensure development aligns with these principles and enable development that complements key institutions and attracts people to the precinct.

The precinct has recently seen several significant infrastructure upgrades, including redeveloping the public plaza and a new five level underground car park, the new SkyCity Casino building, Festival Centre and surrounding area, a new northern entrance to the railway station concourse and, more recently, the new 29 storey 'One Festival Tower' adjacent to Parliament House.

A 38 storey, mixed-use tower adjacent the One Festival Tower has been proposed as the next stage of development to complete renewal of the precinct is a proposed.

The draft Festival Plaza Code Amendment does not consider specific proposed developments but would provide building height and design guidance for any future development in Festival Plaza, including this proposed building. It would guide whether a 38-storey building is the highest and best use for the precinct's remaining development site, its heritage relationship to the national heritage listed Parliament House and the creation of a civic and public space for people at ground level.

South Australian Government's vision for the precinct

The State Government's vision for the Riverbank Precinct is a world-class hub for the arts, culture, tourism, and entertainment.

The vision for this broader precinct is outlined in the 30-Year Plan for Greater Adelaide (2017 Update) and guided by the:

- 2011 Riverbank Master Plan
- 2013 Greater Riverbank Precinct Implementation Plan
- 2015 Adelaide Riverbank Precinct Public Realm Concept Design Report
- 2016 Adelaide Riverbank Precinct, Public Realm Design Development Report
- 2017 Riverbank Shared Use Pathway Connectivity Study.

Policy applying to the affected area (Festival Plaza), particularly the City Riverbank Zone and Entertainment Subzone, is longstanding. Its origins lie in the 2013 Riverbank Health and Entertainment Areas Development Plan Amendment. Therefore, it may not provide contemporary guidance for future development that takes account of recent developments.

Reviewing the policies that guide development in the Festival Plaza Precinct will ensure that they continue to align with the overall strategic vision for the area.

To achieve this vision, the Department for Housing and Urban Development's Chief Executive has, with the approval of the Minister for Planning and Local Government, initiated the Festival Plaza Code Amendment in accordance with Section 73(2)(b) of the Planning Development and Infrastructure Act 2016.

The proposed amendment seeks to provide greater clarity on the appropriate siting of buildings that exceed 20 building levels within the City Riverbank Zone and Entertainment Subzone.

The draft Code Amendment proposes to:

- include a new concept plan for Festival Plaza
- remove an existing designated performance feature (DPF) from the Entertainment Subzone to correct a policy error
- strengthen the existing 'performance outcome' for the subzone, which provides guidance in relation to buildings that exceed 20 building levels.

Engagement Already Undertaken

Previous engagement has been undertaken on the Riverbank Precinct over a period of several years, with a series of master planning processes and development plan and code amendments initiated or completed over the area, which have all involved detailed engagement.

In 2011 the vision for the riverbank was updated through the release of the 2011 Riverbank Master Plan, which focused on revitalising Adelaide's core Riverbank Precinct.

This was followed in 2013 by key zoning changes, through a Development Plan Amendment process, to allow for the construction and renewal of health, research and entertainment facilities and infrastructure along the River Torrens' riverbank. A total of 15 public submissions and 9 government agency submissions were received during consultation on this rezoning and key issues raised contributed to the final amendments. These changes have resulted in the new Royal Adelaide Hospital, South Australian Health and Medical Research Institute (SAHMRI) 1 and 2 building, SkyCity expansion, Adelaide Festival Plaza redevelopment and Lot Fourteen.

The most recent Code Amendment for the precinct was the Riverbank Precinct Code Amendment completed in 2022, which sought to progress initiatives of state significance including the development of the new Women's and Children's Hospital and expansion of the Adelaide Botanic High School.

Key areas of feedback included:

- development and environmental impacts on the park lands
- impacts on places of European heritage value
- impacts on sites of cultural importance and the need to engage Kaurna early
- impacts on infrastructure and public access.

Full details of the engagement process and what was heard from community and stakeholders is available in the engagement report, published on the on the PlanSA website.

Preliminary engagement on this draft Code Amendment has been undertaken with Renewal SA, as the key government agency with an interest in land in the Riverbank Precinct and landowner of Festival Plaza, to determine the final scope of this amendment.

Engagement purpose

The purpose of the engagement is to:

- raise awareness of the draft Code Amendment, focussing on ensuring the City Riverbank Zone and Entertainment Subzone provides clear building height and design guidance
- gather informed feedback on the draft Code Amendment from stakeholders and interested community for consideration in finalising the code Amendment
- inform stakeholders and interested community of the engagement outcomes and final decision
- meet statutory engagement requirements for Code Amendments.

Engagement objectives

The engagement objectives are to:

- inform stakeholders and interested community of why the draft Code Amendment has been developed and the proposed amendments to the planning rules.
- inform stakeholders and interested community of the opportunity to provide feedback on the draft Code Amendment
- ensure all affected stakeholders and interested community have:
 - appropriate opportunities to provide their feedback on the draft Code Amendment
 - equitable access to the information they need to provide relevant and meaningful feedback for consideration in finalising the Code Amendment
 - sufficient time to hear of the consultation, understand what is proposed and provide their feedback on the draft Code Amendment.
- gather relevant and meaningful feedback from stakeholders and interested community for consideration in finalising the Code Amendment for the Minister's decision.
- inform stakeholders and interested community of the consultation and Code Amendment process' outcomes.

Scope of Influence

Aspects of the project which stakeholders and the community can influence are:

- issues and/or opportunities that should be considered in preparing this Code Amendment
- the policy underpinning this Code Amendment, particularly:
 - building height guidance for new developments within Festival Plaza
 - design guidance for new developments within Festival Plaza.

Aspects of the project which stakeholders and the community cannot influence are:

- design of specific buildings proposed within Festival Plaza
- spacial application of the City Riverbank Zone and Entertainment Subzone
- general development policies in the Planning and Design Code (this relates to state-wide policy)
- standard policies and wording contained in zones and overlays in the Planning and Design Code (this relates to state-wide policy).

Key messages

The following key messages will underpin the engagement regarding the Festival Plaza Code Amendment. Additional key messages will be created for specific stakeholder communication collateral as required.

General

- The South Australian Government is reviewing the planning rules for Adelaide's riverbank precinct to ensure the potential of this prime location in our city centre is maximised to meet the needs of our state now and in the future.
- The draft Festival Plaza Code Amendment reviews the planning rules for the City Riverbank Zone and Entertainment Subzone to ensure the most can be made of the site and development opportunities for the state, focussing on ensuring the zone provides clear building height and design guidance.
- Aspects such as building height, siting, contribution to public space and relationships to heritage buildings such as Parliament House are all important planning considerations for new development in the precinct.
- Improving accessibility and connections in the Festival Plaza area are also important considerations.
- It's important that planning rules ensure development along the riverbank is appropriate and achieves the greatest benefits for the state and our community.
- Potential development of this key site presents a rare opportunity to make a significant contribution to the broader riverbank precinct.
- This review aims to ensure that planning rules for this important area are consistent with the South Australian Government's vision for the precinct to be a world-class hub for the arts, culture, tourism and entertainment.
- The community is invited to provide feedback on the draft Code Amendment, which will provide building height and design guidance for future development in the riverbank precinct.
- This draft Code Amendment has come into effect on an interim basis at the same time as being released for consultation to ensure undesirable development applications are not submitted for this important precinct while these planning rules are reviewed.

- Consultation is open from 12 September to 24 October (6 weeks).
- Visit the YourSAy website for more information and to share your feedback.

Recent Festival Plaza upgrades and future development

- Recently, significant upgrades and development have renewed Festival Plaza as a cultural and entertainment hub in the centre of Adelaide.
- Recent improvements include:
 - redeveloping the public plaza, including a new five-level underground car park
 - the new SkyCity Casino building
 - enhancements to the Festival Centre and surrounding areas
 - a new northern entrance to the railway station concourse
 - completion of the 29-storey One Festival Tower.
- A 38 storey mixed-use tower alongside the One Festival Tower has been proposed to complete renewal of the precinct.
- The draft Code Amendment does not consider specific proposed developments, but would provide building height and design guidance for any future development in Festival Plaza.
- Therefore, changes to the planning rules through this code amendment would guide whether the proposed 38-storey building is the highest and best use of the precinct's remaining development site, considering its relationship with national and state heritage listed Parliament House and opportunities to create public space.

The South Australian Government's vision for the wider riverbank precinct

- The Code Amendment is consistent with the South Australian Government's vision for the wider riverbank precinct of delivering a world-class health, sporting, educational and biomedical precinct with strong connections to the city centre and reinforcing North Terrace as a premier cultural boulevard.
- The riverbank's entertainment precinct is the heart of activity, vibrancy and visitor economy, including Festival Plaza, Adelaide Convention Centre, Intercontinental Hotel, Adelaide Festival Centre and Sky City Casino.
- The precinct attracts millions of interstate and international visitors to the state, many of which will spend extensive time within this small part of the city.
- There has been strong recent investment in the precinct, including the Sky City Casino, Riverbank Footbridge development, Adelaide Convention Centre and Festival Plaza development.
- The South Australian Government is progressing further initiatives in the Riverbank Precinct that are significant to the state, including the proposed new Women's and Children's Hospital.

Stakeholder and community mapping

The following section identifies the stakeholders and communities that will be interested in and actively engaged in this consultation process.

It outlines anticipated interests, which assists in planning information and engagement activities that meet stakeholder needs and expectations.

It attributes three levels of engagement, which references the International Association for Public Participation (IAP2) public participation spectrum¹, and is outlined below.

- An INFORM level of engagement commits to providing information that helps stakeholders to understand the problem/issue, alternatives, opportunities or solutions. It commits to keeping stakeholders informed.
- A CONSULT level of engagement builds on the inform level to also seek feedback on the problem/issue and may include looking at options, alternatives, etc. It commits to keeping stakeholders informed and letting them know how their feedback was used.
- An INVOLVE level of engagement builds further to work directly with stakeholders to ensure that their views are consistently understood and considered. It commits to ensure stakeholder views are reflected in project outcomes and letting them know how this impacted on decision making.
- A COLLABORATE level of engagement commits to partnering with stakeholders at each step in the decision-making process including the development of alternatives and the identification of the preferred solution. It involves working together with stakeholders to formulate solutions and incorporate their advice and recommendations into decisions to the maximum extent possible.

Applying the Charter principles in practice

| Charter principle | How does your engagement approach/activities reflect this principle in action? |
|--|--|
| Engagement is genuine | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Engagement seeks input early to help shape the Code Amendment • Engagement is targeted at a wide range of stakeholders using a range of methods that are best targeted to making participation convenient • Timelines are sufficient for people to hear/see the opportunity to have a say and participate in the engagement • Stakeholder and community feedback will be carefully considered and contribute to the substance of the Code Amendment • Easy to understand information released to help audiences understand why it is relevant to them and how they can have their say • Planning and Land Use Services staff are available to answer questions and provide clarity throughout the engagement process • A Consultation Report will be prepared in accordance with section 73(7) of the PDI Act, outlining what was heard and how it was responded to and the evaluation of engagement. This will be published on the SA planning portal. |
| Engagement is inclusive and respectful | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Engagement seeks input early to help shape the proposal • Targeted at a wide range of stakeholders using a range of methods that are best suited to making participation convenient • Due to anticipated interest in this draft Code Amendment beyond the immediate area, engagement activities focus on digital engagement tools to enable access for a wider audience • Efforts to be made to ensure that those most affected or interested are aware of the proposed amendment and engaged through the most direct means possible e.g. direct letters and meetings • The timing of other concurrent consultation activities, such as the Greater Adelaide Regional Plan consultation events, have been considered to ensure key stakeholders can participate in all consultations in a meaningful way • Background information will be readily available and easy-to-understand information will be provided to help audiences understand why it is relevant to them, what it means 'on the ground' and how they can have their say • All comments and views are captured and considered • Timelines sufficient for people to hear/see the opportunity to have a say |
| Engagement is fit for purpose | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The scope of the amendment is broad-reaching, reflecting that the Code Amendment impacts places of importance to many South Australians, including places of national and state heritage significance • Communications material will be clear about the proposed change and how it will affect development outcomes. • A broad range of activities offered in a mix of ways, to reach a wide range of stakeholders • Stakeholders directly impacted will be targeted directly by the engagement (i.e. meetings) • Stakeholders with specific interests will be directly communicated with • The public will be informed through a variety of channels to gain maximum reach |
| Engagement is informed and transparent | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What the community can influence and not influence is clearly outlined • Information clearly articulates key areas of interest, what we are gathering feedback on, how participants can get involved and how feedback will be used • Communication materials will be presented in easy-to-understand language to explain information and will not assume prior knowledge • Submissions will be acknowledged and advised of next steps in the process • An engagement report will be provided to participants and made publicly available |
| Engagement is reviewed and improved | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Measures of success are identified and will be evaluated at the conclusion of the engagement, and at each stage of engagement if required • Any issues raised about the engagement during the process will be considered and action will be taken if appropriate • As the engagement plan is implemented, debriefs will occur after key engagement activities to determine if any changes are required |

Measuring success

At the completion of the engagement, all participants will be invited to assess the success of the engagement against performance criteria one to four, below. The Designated Entity will assess the success of the engagement against criteria five to nine. This evaluation will be included in the statutory report required to be prepared by the Designated Entity under section 73(7) of PDI Act (the Engagement Report). The Engagement Report provides details and analysis of engagement activities undertaken for the Code Amendment, and is provided to the Minister for Planning and Local Government. This Engagement Report will also be referenced in the State Planning Commission's Parliamentary Report under section 74(3)(b) of the Act, which is issued to the Environment Resources and Development Committee of Parliament following adoption of a Code Amendment.
