Hi People,

My concerns regard affordable housing, mortgage stress and homelessness.

While living in tiny houses,granny flats or caravans may be seen as inferior/undesirable to many for some it may be the only affordable option.

Unfortunately people can have all sorts of setbacks that result in financial issues such as health problems or divorce/relationship breakdowns.

Presently these people seemed forced into poor quality housing that is presently not covered by planning laws or homelessness.

While the purpose of planning laws may be many I would hope it is not to make an under class of person who cant afford the minimum standard that is currently demanded and in excess of basic shelter needs.

It would seem even the most basic of shelters is better than being homeless.

Best Regards

Don Nairn
