Hello

I would like the planning reforms to consider that existing views from existing houses are maintained to that that currently exists

Living on the hillside of glen Osmond I have a great view to the west and over the city centre and why I bought my house here
The view is over the roofs of the houses in the street below

Majority of houses in my area have similar views

I request the planning reform does not permit the redevelopment of housing to block existing views

Any loss of view would severely impact on amenity, property values and general well-being

Houses are a considerable investment and people want to be sure that being built out and loss of view from the hillside views over the city is not lost

I understand to define a view is difficult but I think this is an important issue for hillside properties and the planning reforms should have regard for this

Thankyou
